CATALOGUE OF THE BRITISH MUSEUM

PRINTED FOR W. SMITH, PATENT-STEEL-ROLLER

By the Order of the Trustees of the British Museum

1794

ADVERTISEMENT.

THE numerous classes of the former London Catalogue being deemed, in general, intricate and troublesome, they are in this brought into one alphabet; except those of Divinity, Law, Medicine, the Hebrew, Greek, &c. and the School Books, which classes follow the principal one in the order they are mentioned. This arrangement will nearly, if not entirely, obviate former difficulties, and at the same time give each of the learned professions a ready opportunity of making a selection for their own study.

The Books inserted are the editions published by the original proprietors, or their assigns; except in a few instances, where the genuine one has been long out of print, or has been improved or embellished. They are also to be understood as bound in the common manner, unless otherwise mentioned, at the prices affixed.

The time and labour expended on the new arrangement of this Catalogue, and in endeavouring to make it correct, has been very considerable; yet, no doubt, it has its imperfections, and information of any errors or omissions will be thankfully received by September 7, 1799.
